

Weather plays a vital role in production agriculture. In 2019 we have seen unprecedented amounts of rain which has left the Midwest mostly unplanted in corn, soybeans, and forage crops.

Due to the late planting dates, some farmers may opt to take the Preventive Planting route. These unplanted acres are a great place to put out cover crops to improve the soils, both short term and long.

Whether you have experience with cover crops or not, CISCO Seeds can help you with your cover crop decisions. We offer custom blending, prompt delivery, and the option of bags or totes. Give us a call and let our experts walk you through some options.
